Training at the Race Course yesterday

dear through the mud on the sea-shore, while the rain at times came down so thick weather, a fair number of gallopes were done though nothing brilliant. Favourable

BLACK HAND TRIAL.
Remarkable Evidence Against The Prisoners.
VIOLENT SCENES IN COURT.
At Viterbo, says a despatch from Rome dated July 12, interest has been revived in the trial of the Black hand members on a charge of having murdered Cuccolo and his wife at Naples. Remarkable revelations were made yesterday by Captain Fabbri, a distinguished officer who is a Knight of the Crown of Italy, and who, as an officer of carabinieri, made inquiries in connection with the tragedies at Naples. In the course of his evidence Captain Fabbri, speaking with great clearness and confidence, showed that the "corpus" of Cuccolo and his wife had been given the Camorra imprint of revenge in order to inspire fear. Erricone, the leader of the prisoners, invented the system, and each branch of the Camorra had its own figurehead in addition to the figurehead of the society itself. These disclosures led to an uproar in the prisoner's cage.

Continuing, Capt. Fabbri said that the chief "junction" of the Camorra dealogue was "Never confess, even if by so doing you will help the accused." Betrayers if the society were punished in various ways ranging from beatings and slappings with razors to murder. Abbotmaglio (a former member of the society and now chief witness for the prosecution) had already been condemned to death, and it would be impossible for him to escape if he left prison. The object of the Camorra was to keep everyone within its clutches, from the prostitute and the sneak-thief to the highest official. Erricone had been subsidised by the Naples Illumination Company in order to prevent the theft of wires and other material belonging to the company. Other Neapolitan companies had taken similar steps to secure immunity from robbery. The system recalled the time when landed proprietors supported brigandage to secure their own safety.

EXTRAORDINARY REVELATIONS.
Witness gave instances of the influence of the prisoners over thieves and recalled a case in which a cabman over-charged Father Vitelli, who said that the cabman would regret his action. On the same evening three Camorristi beat the cabman and compelled him to apologise to the priest, as well as to return the amount he had overcharged him. The society's chief officer was a cobbler, named Donna. The latter drove youths to light women who accompanied them to the gambling halls, where the officer completed their ruin. Erricone had been tried for complicity in such cases. Signor Bovio, one of the lawyers for the defence, interrupted that Erricone had been acquitted.

Witness: Yes, but the President of the Court that tried him was a brother of the lawyer who is now defending him.
At this announcement there was a terrific tumult in the Court. Erricone jumped about as head of the Camorristi, led to a fierce conflict in which an inspector was killed and a constable was so seriously wounded with a blade that his case is now critical.

An attempt made by the police at Naples to arrest Grandullo, successor to Erricone as head of the Camorristi, led to a fierce conflict in which an inspector was killed and a constable was so seriously wounded with a blade that his case is now critical.

ANOTHER SCENE.
On July 13, Captain Fabbri gave further evidence, which appeared to show him as the managing of the whole prosecution. He stated that gangs of Camorristi were distributed throughout the towns during elections, and recalcitrant electors were beaten, maltreated, wounded, and kidnapped.

Witness's reconstruction of the murder of Cuccolo led to Erricone shaking the bars of the prisoners' cages as he was a lunatic and yelling, "Murderer! you made my brother die in prison."
Captain Fabbri furnished details of the suspicions that led to the arrest of the prisoners, and also of the formation of a body of picked carabinieri, known as the "Squad of Terror," which alone faced the Camorra. The latter, he said, represented directly and indirectly 500,000 persons.

SCOTTISH SPORT.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
EDINBURGH, July 25.
SCOTO-IRISH CRICKET INTERNATIONAL.
A three-days' cricket match between Scotland and Ireland, unfortunately much interrupted by rain, ended in a draw. Scotland opened with 207, T. A. Bowie, Clackmannan, and J. Grievie, Fol. c. scoring 52 and 50. Ireland replied with 409 for 4. The Hon. H. G. H. Mulholland, North of Ireland, gave a grand exhibition of forcible batting with 149. He was overhauled, however, by his captain, R. H. Lambart, Leinster, more than a decade ago one of the Leith Caledonian team, who played a punishing game, 103 not out. R. A. Lloyd, Dublin University, was 47, and W. N. Meldrum, Co. Wicklow, 49 not out. Ireland declared, and left Scotland four hours to save the match with 204 for 7. P. S. Fraser, Grange, 79; W. H. Thorburn, Peebles, 45, not out; and W. F. Turnbull, Stewartonians 41, retired hurt. Ireland had certainly the luck of the wicket, but they were the better XI in every department. The Scots were lamely weak in bowling, and if they are to have any chance against the Indians next month they will have to introduce some new trundlers.

What is probably a unique performance in Scottish cricket took place at Allea, when C. F. Younger, the Oxford University Authentic, playing for Clackmannan in a Scottish County Championship match, captured all the Stirling wickets, his analysis reading 16 overs, 3 maidens, 55 runs, and 10 wickets. What is even more remarkable, he only bowled one batsman; there was a l.b.w., and all the others were caught. The full scores were:—Clackmannan, 111; Stirling, 97.

The most interesting game in Edinburgh was at Goldenacre, when Heriotians added to a creditable record against Polce. They declared at 272 for 5; Muehet and Melville had 133 for their partnership. Polce also played well, 112 for 2.

These old rivals, Academy and Merchiston, had two meetings. In the school match Academy beat Merchiston, and thus share championship honours with Fettes and Loretto. They had 230; the Cattie replied with 91 and 183; and then the Academy scored 46 for 5. The old boys only managed to draw their engagement, —Academy 223 for 4, innings closed (R. G. Lindsay, 82, and G. L. D. Hole, not out, 67); and Merchistonians 171 for 8. Two Border clubs went down, —Hawick before Grange, and Gala before Watsonians.

HERALD DAY—A GOLF IDYL.
You drive, —and, oh! the words unsaid,
The thoughts too deep for tears;
You've taken nine, and it's a hole
You have't been for years.
You clear it at the third attempt,
And hole out in five more;
You've taken nine, and it's a hole
You always do in four.
You try to make it up, —but, no!
You're fifty at the turn
Through socketing three maulie shots
And topping at the burn.
Regret begets regret; for while
That short putt you're deploring,
Your well-meant brassie at the rough
Straight heavenward is soaring.
You stand in ninety-nine, loss nine
"Hopeless!" And yet you wait,
To learn that old pot-hunter Smith
Has won with eighty-eight.
"J. B. O." in Glasgow Herald.

THE CURSE OF MALARIA.

How it may be Removed.

"WITH the banishment of Malaria a new era will dawn in history." These words, which cast a lurid glow on the importance of the disease directly responsible for more invaliding and death than any other cause in China, were spoken, a short time ago, by a distinguished man. Before that, can be achieved, however, untold millions of lives will have been sacrificed to the ravages of that pernicious microbe, which plays such havoc with the red blood corpuscles, destroying them, and devouring their hemoglobin, while producing poisons which rack the limbs with pain, reduce physical and mental strength to a very low level, and set up changes which may lead to the disease of many more important organs.

Malaria is, however, too well known to every resident in the tropics to make it necessary to paint a picture of the suffering it induces.

What is necessary in the public interest is to point out clearly, simply, and directly how the disastrous effects of the disease in all their varied manifestations may be overcome, how the patient may recover his full health, strength, and vitality, and be protected against further attacks.

The Curse Removed.

Nothing, it has been proved times without number, has so potent an influence for good as Sanatogen, which is universally recognised as the greatest reconstituent preparation and most revitalising tonic-food science has yet discovered.

Composed of glycerophosphate of sodium, the active principle of the nervous system chemically combined with casein, the albuminous or body-building element of pure milk, Sanatogen is the most easily digested of all tonic-food substances. It is rapidly assimilated by the body, and immediately begins to nourish the muscles as well as the nervous system, which finds in the preparation the supply of its vital phosphorus in exactly the form in which it can be most easily made use of. In addition, it increases the number and quality of the red corpuscles to an amazing extent. It frequently increases them by half a million per cubic centimetre in a fortnight, putting up the hemoglobin at the rate of two per cent per week.

The result is that the sufferer's wasted body fills out, his drawn, lined face gets young again, his dim eyes grow bright, and his prematurely grey hair regains its normal tinge, so that he seems to grow younger and younger until he becomes as well as he ever was before.

Children are likewise profoundly affected by Malaria, which retards their growth in a most marked manner. When, however, they take Sanatogen, they rapidly regain their normal weight, recover their health, and start growing again. Sanatogen's power in overcoming the disabilities produced by Malaria have been attested by a large number of doctors throughout the tropics as well as by hundreds of laymen.

Medical and Lay Evidence.

Among medical men, Dr. H. H. W. Harte, Hapur Remount Depot, Bulwarah United Provinces, India, writes: "I have much pleasure in certifying to the value of Sanatogen in cases of Malaria, Enteric Fever, Dysentery and other exhausting diseases. I have used it regularly now in my practice for the past two years, and in no single instance have I been disappointed with the results. I can honestly affirm that many of my worst cases owe their recovery to Sanatogen."

Mr. Thomas Lynn, Calcutta, writes: "I was a broken-down wreck of a man as far as health goes and have been a martyr to Malaria for four years, becoming weaker and weaker with the natural run-down condition and its accompaniments, Brain-fag, Nervousness, and Dyspepsia. Two bottles of Sanatogen have made an extraordinary difference for the better—pay for the best. I shall always highly recommend Sanatogen everywhere I go. You will readily understand what a boon such a restorative of life is to people out in the Tropics, who have the awful heat to fight against."

In addition to curing the after-effects of Malaria, and thus putting the body in the best possible condition to withstand the diseases of the liver, kidneys, etc., which follow in its train, Sanatogen is the best known preventive of Malaria, as it maintains the body in the finest state of health, and, therefore, in the most advantageous position for throwing off the attacks of the Malaria germ.

An exceedingly interesting pamphlet, "How to Keep Well in Tropical Climates," which contains full information on this subject, and on others of vital importance to all residents in China, will be sent, free, to all mentioning the China Mail on application, to Messrs A.S. Watson & Co., Hongkong, from whom also Sanatogen can be purchased.

Sanatogen may be obtained of all chemists.

ANCIENT AND MODERN FORTUNES.

RECENTLY the New York Times, in commenting on the big fortunes that have been piled up in recent years in the United States, drew comparisons between them and the fortunes mentioned in ancient history. Incidentally it cast a doubt on the list of worldly possessions held by that long suffering man Job, questioning whether in those days the accumulation of so much personal property in one hand was possible. Job is reported to have had 130,000 sheep, 340,000 asses, and 3,500 pairs of oxen, and the New York Times gravely doubts the statement. The Bankers' Magazine, however, sees no reason to doubt the figures, judging by what is possible in these latter days, and it quotes some interesting instances which can be brought up in defence of its belief.

The richest man now living in Mexico, Gen. LOUIS TERRAZES, is credited with owning land to the extent of several million acres and employing 10,000 men, of whom 1,000 are engaged in keeping up his wire fences! General TERRAZES is also said to possess goats and sheep to the extent of several hundred thousand, mules to the extent of 1,000,000, and horses to the extent of 5,000,000. "Such are the newspaper figures quoted by the New York Times. Exaggerated as these figures be, they would remain sufficiently large, even after liberal allowance had been made for a newspaper writer's fondness for big stories. The Bankers' Magazine, after quoting this statement, remarks that "as a pillar-up of wealth, the modern multi-millionaire has probably far outclassed his ancient rivals." That this is unquestionably true, becomes apparent to any one who reads WILLIAM S. DAVIS' recent book on "The Influence of Wealth in Imperial Rome." In one of his chapters Mr DAVIS discusses the size of the greatest Roman fortunes. The largest of which any record exists were of 300,000,000 or 400,000,000 sesterces, a sesterce being four cents, which would make these fortunes $12,000,000 (gold) and $16,000,000 (gold) respectively. Only two cases of $16,000,000 Roman estates are known—that of AGRICOLA, the man whom TIBERIUS forced to make him his heir, and that of NARCISSEUS, the secretary of CLAUDIUS. The greatest ancient income of which we know was approximately $1,200,000, but it is to be remembered that returns on investments in ancient days were higher than now, at least 6 per cent., as against 4 per cent. so that a fortune worth $10,000,000 would then yield as much as one of $15,000,000 now. Mr DAVIS declares "that the greatest fortunes of the first cannot compare with those of the twentieth century." Even when we allow for the difference in the purchasing powers of money, and agree that it was three times as great in CLAUDIUS' time as it is now, "a very uncertain proposition," we get for the estate of NARCISSEUS a fortune of $48,000,000, while, if we allow for the greater income then derived—that is, 6 per cent. instead of 4—this fortune would be raised to about $72,000,000, which, great though it is, has been in several instances surpassed in America and probably in Europe. Mr DAVIS calls attention, however, to one great difference in the influence of wealth on Rome and on ourselves. Life in Rome, just before great fortunes were acquired, had been extremely simple among all classes, and never in Rome were there means for spending money such as are known to us. Hence huge fortunes in Rome produced a very different effect from what they do today. Even a moderate patrimony was greater then in all it could give a man.

That the effect of the rapid accumulation of big fortunes is not of the best for the national temper is clearly shown in the present social unrest among the people of the United States. A writer in The Times recently discussed the subject and in the course of his deductions remarked—"The newly rich who came into their estates without the long years of stern training in business economies, were conscious of no responsibilities, and not unnaturally they began spending, and are spending to-day, with a lavishness formerly undreamed of; and this it is, more than anything else, which has contributed to the general increase in extravagance and to the almost universal raising of the scale of living. But, what is even more important, the attitude of the public towards them is different from its attitude towards the rich men of the older type. Without saying anything so absurd as that all these newly rich are unworthy of their fortunes or are using them in unworthy ways, one cannot help seeing that the example set by many of them is unedifying. . . . The Western agricultural States look on Wall-street as an alien thing, and it arouses their wrath that its corrupting influence should pervade the affairs of the nation, and even more, that their own affairs, the prices of wheat and corn and of all staples, should be subject to its manipulation, and that it should be able at one time to plunge the whole country into depression, at another to force the price of commodities up to a point where it becomes difficult for the mass of people to live upon its income."

It certainly is a strange phenomenon that a people so conspicuously well-to-do as are the majority of the citizens of the United States should be so discontented, but there is little doubt that the big problem which they will have to thrash out this century will be the more equitable division of wealth.

TO "SAVE THE COUNTRY."

Seditious Campaign in Hongkong.

It has long been known that, in spite of repressive measures by the authorities, Hongkong is constantly used as a base of operations by Chinese "reformers." The Hongkong Government has been, and still is, doing all in its power to put a check to the activities of these rebels, but their methods are so well-planned and so carefully employed that it is a matter of great difficulty to get at the actual men, mostly of the student class, who are actively engaged in the campaign.

We have just had brought to our notice some samples of the literature, which is secretly circulated in the Colony and which, though it makes no direct reference to the point, aims without doubt at the overthrow of the existing Government in China, and which is, therefore, seditious in character. The particular batch of printed matter which we have seen comprises a booklet and two lengthy sheets, all printed in the Chinese language.

THE HOME RIOTS.

TROOPS SEVERELY CRITICISED.

LABOURITES STRONG WORDS.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LONDON, Aug. 16.

The situation at London Docks is again menacing, the men refusing yesterday's offer. Meanwhile thousands of tons of foodstuffs have gone bad and are being destroyed, by order of the Board of Health.

Another rioter shot by the Hussars at Liverpool has since died.

THE THREATENED RAILWAY STRIKE.

The Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants has given the companies twenty-four hours notice, ending on Thursday morning, in which to decide whether they will meet the Society's representatives and negotiate a basis of settlement of the matters in dispute, otherwise a national strike will be ordered.

Mr Sydney Buxton has requested the railway managers and the representatives of the A.S.R.S. to meet him to-day.

There is a tendency to believe that a national catastrophe is not inevitable, and it is trusted that the Board of Trade and common sense will avert or render partial such a catastrophe. Meanwhile it is stated that the companies, foreseeing trouble months ago, made elaborate precautions for a skeleton service should a strike take place. In any event a portion of the men employed on the railways do not belong to the A.S.R.S.

MANOEUVRES STOPPED.

LATER.

The manoeuvres in the South-Eastern district have been stopped owing to several regiments being held in readiness in London to proceed to strike centres.

LINERS HELD UP.

Liners are held up Liverpool, which is full of Americans unable to get home. Troops are guarding the landing stages owing to rumours that the rioters contemplate burning them.

Food is becoming scarce in both Liverpool and Manchester.

GOVERNMENT ALERT.

There is a rumour in the lobby of the House of Commons that should the troubles be aggravated, Parliament, instead of adjourning on the 18th of August, will continue sitting in order that it may legislate with reference to the situation. It is known that the Government is considering proposals to secure the settlement of labour disputes without strikes, but the task is necessarily long and arduous. It has been widely suggested that the unrest is due to the stationariness of wages during the past decade while the cost of living has increased.

Mr Cooper, M.P., drew attention in the House of Commons to the suggested appointment of a Royal Commission.

Mr Lloyd George replied that the Government were carefully considering the matter in all aspects.

TROUBLE WITH NEGROES.

A crowd of starving negro sailors at Cardiff collided with the police who used their batons.

Twelve negroes were taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition.

STATEMENT BY MR CHURCHILL.

LATER.

In the House of Commons to-day Mr Winston Churchill announced that there was a fresh difficulty in London owing to the men insisting that only Union hands should be taken on at the Royal Albert Dock.

He emphasised the point that the violence of the mob at Liverpool was such that the soldiers were compelled to fire, and said business at Manchester was at a standstill. Two battalions of infantry and a regiment of cavalry were in readiness in case of further trouble.

"BLOODTHIRSTY COWARDS."

LATER.

In the House of Commons Mr George Lansbury and other Labour members denounced the brutality of using soldiers to quell the riots (Opposition protests) and suggested that the troops should only fire at the legs of the mob. He proceeded to criticise the action of the troops.

Mr Churchill refused to comment on what had been done in circumstances of great difficulty (Cheers).

Mr Lansbury concluded by shouting at the Opposition, "You set of blood-thirsty cowards."

BY TELEGRAPH.

GOVERNMENT AND OPPOSITION ONE.

Mr Lloyd George announced that the Government was dealing with the whole question of preventing and shortening industrial warfare.

Mr Austen Chamberlain said, the Opposition would give the Government every support in carrying out the law.

RESTRICTED RAILWAY SERVICE.

LATER.

The Manager of the Midland Railway has issued a statement to the effect that, the Government having assured ample protection to the railway companies, the Company is prepared to give effective though restricted strike services.

Mr Wir ton Churchill, again speaking in the House of Commons, said the Government would not shrink from its duty of preventing a catastrophe overwhelming the people through a breakdown in the machinery whereby we live.

MR LLOYD GEORGE'S APPEAL.

LATER.

Mr Lloyd George, in his speech, dwelt on the railway trouble and, speaking with emphasis, declared that only twenty-four hours' notice was a mistake, because it made negotiation impossible. Consequently he appealed to the men not to carry out their threat till the machinery of the Board of Trade could come into operation, otherwise they would alienate public sympathy. He concluded that the Government must at all cost protect the railways and the food supply.

OFFICIAL EXPLANATION OF FIRING.

LATER.

An official report shows that the Hussars were last evening escorting five prison vans containing 90 prisoners through Liverpool when they were surrounded by a ferocious mob armed with bricks, bottles and iron bars.

The troops fired a blank charge without effect, and then discharged six shots of ball.

Eye witnesses say the crowd was made hysterical and the reading of the Riot Act left the people perfectly unmoved and uncontrollable until ball cartridges were fired. Then there were awful shrieks, and the police cleared a passage through the mob. One of the rioters was killed while attacking the Scots Greys with an iron bar.

SITUATION GRAVE.

The position in Liverpool to-night is grave. The mob is in an ugly mood and prices of foodstuffs are rising.

MANCHESTER IN EXTREMIS.

LONDON, Aug. 17.

At Manchester the strike situation is rapidly becoming worse. Business is utterly suspended, the railway stations are closed, and the train service is suspended.

IMPROVEMENT IN LONDON.

On the contrary, there are signs of improvement at the London docks.

CABINET ASSEMBLES.

The Cabinet has considered the labour position, and after the meeting the railway managers and the men's leaders held prolonged separate meetings with the Board of Trade. Another meeting is called for to-night.

RAILWAY SERVICES INTERRUPTED.

Already the Midland Railway has suspended bookings to Manchester, and other services are also being cancelled. All lines are preparing for emergencies.

THE ARBITRATION TREATIES.

"BREEDERS OF WAR."

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LONDON, Aug. 16.

Reuter's Washington correspondent states that the Report of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate defends its action in eliminating the clause in the British and French Arbitration Treaties providing for a Joint Commission. It characterises the Treaties as breeders of war, not peace, and argues that under the Treaties any question arising in reference to the Monroe doctrine, immigration or territorial integrity might be determined without the constitutional co-operation of the Senate.

STOCK EXCHANGE FAILURES.

LONDON, Aug. 16.

Three small failures on the Stock Exchange are reported. They are chiefly connected with Americans.

ADMIRAL LI'S COURAGE.

GRANT OF "IMPERIAL MEDICINE."

(Wah Tze Yat Po's Service.)

PEKING, August 16.

In an Edict it is stated that the Viceroy of Canton has telegraphed to the Throne a description of the circumstances connected with the attempt on the life of Admiral Li, stating that in spite of the bomb shells the Admiral jumped up on a neighbouring roof and directed operations against the attacking party. The Throne grants a supply of Imperial medicine to the Admiral from the Palace in Peking, and also instructs the Viceroy to show the Edict to Admiral Li.

(Note.—We learn that an official report has been issued in Canton stating that the injured Admiral is recovering from the effects of his wounds. His temperature has dropped from 100 to 98 and the doctor is of opinion that if the improvements continue he will be well in a fortnight. He has been granted a month's leave. The Revolutionists have been circulating a rumour to the effect that the Admiral is dead, but that the fact has been suppressed by the Viceroy.—Ed. C.M.)

ANOTHER CANTON VICEROY?

(Wah Tze Yat Po's Service.)

HOME RULE.

A CALL TO THE LIBERALS.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LONDON, Aug. 16.

Speaking at a luncheon at the National Liberal Club, Mr Birrell paid a warm tribute to Mr Asquith for leading the party to victory on behalf of a free Constitution based on a system of representative government.

He called on the party to support the Government in the next session in order to carry Home Rule.

Mr Asquith intended to make a great pronouncement of policy at this luncheon, but was absent owing to throat trouble.

HONGKONG'S OPIUM REVENUE.

House of Commons Criticism.

Following the speech delivered in the House of Commons on July 26th by Mr Gerald Stewart, Mr T. Taylor (Lancashire, C., Radcliffe, Man.) contended that the opium trade and the mode of raising revenue out of the drug were wrong, while he would not be sorry to see morphia and cocaine placed under the same supervision and restraint as opium now was. He expressed regret that the Government allowed the traffic to go on in Hongkong, especially as there were other methods of raising revenue available. It was certainly inconsistent to raise a considerable part of revenue from the sale of opium to a portion of the population under a strict control, while heretofore the efforts were being made in China to put down the evil. The Times, which in such matters was not a bigoted journal, speaking recently of the duty of Great Britain, said it was imperative that British Colonies should not continue to countenance a vice which China was making great sacrifices to suppress. The anti-opium people did not ask for anything unreasonable, but they did insist that Hongkong should set up to the standard set by China. The same reform was wanted in all our Eastern Colonies. The Straits Settlements in 1909 had an overwhelming exchequer, and yet they clung to this monopoly, because more than half their revenue came from opium. The process of reform was not going on quickly enough.

THE HIPPODROME.

A great welcome was extended to the new combination of the Hippodrome Managria and Circus which re-opened at Causeway Bay on Wednesday night. The new artistes, seen for the first time in Hongkong, under the direction of Mr Borowsky, make the Hippodrome one of the best that has ever been seen in the East. An idea of the capabilities of the new organization was gained inasmuch as only the new talent appeared on Wednesday night, and with the former members of the troupe in reserve a great variety of programmes can now be presented. The show last night was indeed a splendid one, and plenty of good wholesome entertainment was provided. A prominent feature was the general excellence of the horses, which were in the pink of condition. At a word from Mr N. Borowsky they obeyed his behests with remarkable agility and executed many surprisingly clever and interesting feats. The acrobatic jockeys were quite at home on their steeds and their exhibition met with general approval. A pleasant interlude was the musical performance by Le Belle Gerdie, who captivated her hearers by her performance on a variety of musical instruments. The programme concluded by the introduction of twenty-three performing lions under the direction of Mr G. Urian.

A matinee is to be given on Saturday afternoon.
